Who We Are

ALM Group is envisioned as a multi-sector business group bringing together specialized business interests under a common corporate vision. Our business portfolio encompasses real estate development, air cargo and logistics, passenger aviation, private airport development, and sustainable aviation fuel production. Each sector presents distinct opportunities to support infrastructure development, transportation, connectivity, and the evolving needs of modern industries. Our approach emphasizes strategic planning, commercial feasibility, professional management, collaboration, and responsible growth. Through Aarya Foundation, we also aspire to contribute to social development by supporting initiatives that improve access to healthcare, education, skills, and employment opportunities. We believe that business growth can create opportunities not only for investors and partners but also for employees, customers, and communities.

Our Vision

To build a diversified, future-ready business group that contributes to economic development through innovation, infrastructure, connectivity, entrepreneurship, and responsible business practices. We aspire to establish ALM Group as a trusted and professionally managed business group across multiple industries, creating long-term value through strategic expansion and meaningful partnerships.

Our Mission

Our mission is to identify promising opportunities, develop sustainable business models, establish specialized business ventures, and pursue long-term growth across diverse sectors.

Mission Priorities

Develop businesses that address genuine market needs; explore opportunities in aviation, logistics, real estate, infrastructure, and sustainable energy; build strategic relationships with investors, institutions, industry participants, and business partners; promote innovation, operational efficiency, and professional management; support employment, education, healthcare, and community welfare through Aarya Foundation; and expand into emerging business sectors through responsible planning and development.

Core Values

Integrity: Conducting business with honesty, transparency, and respect for applicable laws. Innovation: Exploring new ideas, technologies, and business models to address evolving market needs. Excellence: Striving for quality, professionalism, and continuous improvement. Collaboration: Building mutually beneficial relationships with investors, partners, employees, suppliers, and communities. Responsibility: Recognizing our responsibilities toward stakeholders, society, and the environment. Long-Term Vision: Prioritizing sustainable growth, sound planning, and enduring value creation.

2. About ALM Group

Overview

A Group Built Around Opportunity, Innovation and Growth. ALM Group is a diversified business group established with the ambition of developing and expanding business interests across multiple sectors.

Strategic Direction

The Group’s strategic direction encompasses real estate, air cargo transportation, passenger aviation, private airport infrastructure, and sustainable aviation fuel production. Through specialized business verticals and future subsidiaries, ALM Group aims to build a portfolio of businesses capable of responding to changing market needs and emerging opportunities.

Operating Philosophy

We recognize that every industry requires specialized expertise, appropriate operating structures, sector-specific investment strategies, and compliance with applicable regulations. Accordingly, our long-term approach is to develop each business vertical with suitable professional capabilities, strategic partners, technical expertise, and responsible governance.

Corporate Structure

ALM Group serves as the overarching group brand for its business interests and planned portfolio of specialized ventures. As the Group expands, individual companies or subsidiaries may be established to focus on specific industries, manage sector-specific operations, pursue partnerships, and undertake relevant commercial activities.

Structure Benefits

Distinct identities for individual businesses; specialized management and operational accountability; flexible investment and partnership structures; appropriate financial and legal separation between entities; and expansion into new sectors as business opportunities develop.

Legal Relationship Note

The precise legal relationship between ALM Group, its operating companies, and Aarya Foundation will be described in accordance with the applicable corporate and registration documents.

Approach to Growth

Opportunity Identification: evaluating business opportunities according to market demand, strategic relevance, and long-term potential. Structured Development: preparing appropriate business plans, feasibility assessments, financial models, and implementation strategies. Strategic Partnerships: engaging with experienced professionals, investors, technology providers, institutions, and industry participants. Responsible Execution: developing businesses in accordance with applicable laws, licensing requirements, safety standards, and industry regulations. Continuous Expansion: exploring new markets and sectors as the Group's capabilities and resources evolve.

Future Vision

ALM Group aims to grow through focused business development, strategic collaboration, infrastructure investment, and diversification. We intend to explore opportunities that support economic connectivity, improve access to transportation and logistics, contribute to infrastructure development, and advance the development of sustainable aviation solutions. Our long-term ambition is to create a professionally managed and diversified business ecosystem that combines commercial opportunities with responsible development and social progress.

3.1 Real Estate & Infrastructure

Headline

Developing Spaces. Creating Opportunities.

Overview

Real estate and infrastructure are important areas of ALM Group's business interests. Our vision is to explore opportunities in residential and commercial property development, land development, planned communities, and associated infrastructure initiatives. We aim to identify opportunities that respond to changing market needs while emphasizing strategic planning, project feasibility, responsible development, and long-term value creation.

Areas of Focus

Residential real estate development; commercial property development; mixed-use development opportunities; land development and planned projects; township and integrated development concepts; real estate investment and joint-development opportunities; infrastructure planning and development partnerships; collaboration with landowners, developers, investors, and technical consultants.

Development Approach

Successful real estate development requires more than land acquisition. It involves location assessment, market research, financial planning, infrastructure requirements, development permissions, and a clear understanding of customer needs. ALM Group aims to evaluate each opportunity according to its commercial feasibility, location, development potential, and applicable legal requirements. We intend to work with suitable partners and qualified professionals to explore projects that are appropriately planned and commercially viable.

Premium Properties & Luxury Farmhouses

ALM Group's Real Estate division also focuses on premium and luxury real estate opportunities, including luxury properties, exclusive farmhouses, and select land and investment opportunities. We aim to assist clients in identifying suitable properties, exploring purchase and sale opportunities, and facilitating real estate transactions through professional coordination and liaisoning services.

Luxury Farmhouse Services

We deal in luxury farmhouse-related opportunities for clients interested in spacious properties, private retreats, countryside estates, and land with potential for lifestyle or investment purposes. Services may include identifying suitable farmhouses, coordinating property visits, facilitating negotiations, and supporting transaction-related coordination.

Property Sale & Purchase

Property sourcing and buyer requirement assessment; seller and buyer coordination; property listing and transaction facilitation; site-visit coordination; negotiation and commercial-term coordination; documentation coordination and transaction follow-up; and liaison with legal professionals and technical consultants for due diligence.

Real Estate Liaisoning

We provide real estate liaisoning and coordination services to facilitate communication between property owners, buyers, sellers, developers, investors, and other relevant stakeholders. Support may include coordination between buyers and sellers; liaison with landowners and property developers; coordination with real estate consultants and authorized intermediaries; facilitating discussions and negotiations; coordination with legal professionals and technical consultants; and tracking documentation and transaction-related processes. Government-facing liaisoning, approvals, or statutory processes will be undertaken only through lawful procedures and authorized professionals, wherever required.

Land & Investment Opportunities

We explore suitable land and real estate opportunities for individuals, investors, and business partners interested in property acquisition, development, or long-term investment. Each opportunity is subject to property-specific due diligence, applicable land-use regulations, title verification, commercial feasibility, and other relevant legal requirements.

Commitment & CTA

At ALM Real Estate, we believe every property transaction requires trust, transparency, informed decision-making, and professional coordination. Our objective is to connect buyers, sellers, property owners, and investors with premium real estate opportunities while promoting professional, transparent, and responsible property transactions. 3.2 Air Cargo & Logistics

Headline

Connecting Businesses Through Air Cargo

Overview

ALM Group aims to develop opportunities in air cargo transportation and logistics, serving the evolving needs of domestic and, where feasible, international markets. Air cargo plays an important role in modern supply chains by facilitating transportation of time-sensitive shipments, commercial products, industrial components, valuable goods, and other suitable cargo.

Areas of Focus

Domestic air cargo transportation; regional cargo connectivity; business-to-business cargo solutions; time-sensitive shipment transportation; partnerships with freight forwarders and logistics providers; cargo handling and related logistics services; potential international cargo operations subject to applicable permissions and commercial feasibility.

Development Approach

The development of our air cargo vertical may involve aircraft selection, route feasibility studies, cargo demand assessments, operating-cost analysis, airport partnerships, ground-handling arrangements, and regulatory approvals. We intend to evaluate business models that balance payload capacity, route distance, aircraft utilization, operating expenses, customer requirements, and commercial sustainability.

Objective & CTA

Our long-term objective is to develop an air cargo business capable of serving commercial customers through dependable planning, appropriate operating standards, and strategic industry relationships. Our objective is to explore air cargo solutions that connect businesses, markets, and supply chains more efficiently. Cargo Partnerships |

Logistics Opportunities | Contact Our Team.

3.3 Passenger Aviation

Headline

Connecting People. Opening New Possibilities.

Overview

ALM Group intends to explore opportunities in passenger air transportation, with a long-term focus on developing commercially viable air services that connect destinations and respond to passenger demand. Regional aviation can help improve connectivity between cities, business centres, emerging destinations, and areas where surface transportation may involve considerable travel time.

Areas of Focus

Regional passenger air transportation; domestic air connectivity; short-haul route development; aircraft acquisition and leasing opportunities; operating and strategic aviation partnerships; route planning and passenger-demand assessment; passenger service development; potential expansion into additional markets subject to regulatory and commercial feasibility.

Priorities

Connectivity: evaluating routes that address genuine transportation needs. Operational Efficiency: assessing aircraft suitability, route structures, utilization, and operating costs. Passenger Experience: working toward reliable service, clear communication, and professional customer care. Commercial Sustainability: building business plans around realistic demand, appropriate pricing, and responsible financial management.

Regulatory Note

The launch and operation of passenger air services would be subject to applicable airline licensing, safety oversight, operational readiness, aircraft requirements, and other statutory approvals.

Objective & CTA

To develop the foundations for a passenger aviation business that connects destinations and creates new opportunities for travel and commerce. Aviation Partnerships | Business Opportunities | Contact Our Team.

3.4 Private Airport Development & Aviation Infrastructure

Headline

Developing Infrastructure for the Future of Aviation

Overview

ALM Group aims to explore private airport development and associated aviation infrastructure opportunities to support the evolving needs of air transportation, cargo operations, business aviation, and regional connectivity.

Areas of Focus

Private airport development opportunities; aviation infrastructure planning; potential cargo-oriented airport facilities; infrastructure supporting regional aviation; business aviation facilities where feasible; runway and airside infrastructure planning; airport access and ground-support facilities; partnerships with infrastructure investors, engineering consultants, and aviation stakeholders.

Development Principles

Airport projects require detailed feasibility studies, suitable land and airspace assessments, aviation safety evaluations, environmental review, infrastructure planning, and approvals from relevant authorities. Each proposed project must be evaluated individually according to its location, intended use, technical specifications, commercial viability, and applicable legal framework.

Objective & CTA

To explore aviation infrastructure opportunities that support safe, efficient, and commercially viable air transportation. Airport Development | Infrastructure Partnerships | Contact Our Team.

3.5 Sustainable Aviation Fuel & Clean Energy

Headline

Exploring the Future of More Sustainable Aviation

Overview

As the aviation industry explores pathways to reduce lifecycle greenhouse gas emissions, sustainable aviation fuel has become an important area of technological development and investment interest. ALM Group intends to explore opportunities in sustainable aviation fuel production and related clean-energy value chains.

Areas of Focus

Sustainable aviation fuel production opportunities; feedstock availability and supply-chain assessment; technology and process evaluation; potential production facility development; strategic partnerships with technology providers and industry participants; fuel quality, certification, and regulatory compliance; exploration of related low-carbon energy opportunities.

Development Approach

The development of a sustainable aviation fuel facility requires technical and commercial assessment, including feedstock sourcing, process selection, production economics, environmental performance, infrastructure requirements, product certification, and market demand. Our approach will prioritize technical feasibility, responsible resource management, credible lifecycle-emissions assessment, and compliance with relevant fuel specifications and environmental regulations.

Objective & CTA

To explore commercially viable opportunities in sustainable aviation fuel and contribute to the development of a more sustainable aviation ecosystem. Technology Partnerships | Energy Projects | Contact Our Team.

3.6 Future Business Verticals

Headline

Expanding Beyond Today’s Opportunities

Copy

ALM Group believes that business growth is an ongoing process of learning, innovation, and identifying emerging market needs. As the Group develops, we intend to evaluate opportunities across additional sectors that complement our capabilities or offer potential for long-term growth. Future areas of exploration may include logistics infrastructure, industrial development, technology-enabled services, energy-related businesses, and other sectors identified through feasibility studies and strategic planning. Any new venture will be assessed according to market demand, investment requirements, management capability, regulatory considerations, and long-term strategic fit.

Closing

Our vision is not limited to a single industry. It is focused on building a diversified and adaptable business group for the future.

4. Aarya Foundation

Headline

Aarya Foundation — Empowering Lives. Strengthening Communities. Creating Opportunities.

Overview

Aarya Foundation is ALM Group's associated social-welfare initiative, focused on supporting meaningful social development and improving access to opportunities for underserved communities. The Foundation's mission centres on healthcare, education, and employment. We believe social progress becomes more meaningful when people have better access to essential services, opportunities to learn, and pathways toward economic independence.

Mission

To support social welfare by promoting access to healthcare, educational opportunities, skill development, and employment-related initiatives, with a focus on improving the well-being and capabilities of individuals and communities.

Vision

To contribute to a society in which individuals have greater access to essential healthcare, quality learning opportunities, practical skills, and dignified means of livelihood.

Healthcare & Medical Welfare

Aarya Foundation aims to support initiatives that improve healthcare awareness and access to essential medical services, particularly for individuals and communities facing social or economic barriers. Potential programmes include community health-awareness campaigns; medical-awareness and preventive-health initiatives; health camps and medical outreach with qualified healthcare providers; eligible medical-welfare programmes; public education on hygiene, nutrition, and preventive care; and partnerships with hospitals, clinics, healthcare professionals, and eligible institutions.

Education & Learning

Aarya Foundation aims to support educational initiatives that encourage learning, improve access to educational resources, and help individuals develop capabilities for the future. Potential programmes include educational support for disadvantaged students; learning resources and educational materials; scholarship and assistance programmes subject to available resources and eligibility; career guidance and educational counselling; digital literacy and practical learning; and collaboration with schools, educational institutions, and community organizations.

Employment, Skills & Livelihood

Aarya Foundation aims to explore initiatives that help individuals improve employability, acquire relevant skills, and connect with suitable livelihood opportunities. Potential programmes include vocational and skill-development initiatives; career guidance and employment awareness; workplace-readiness training; digital and professional skills development; entrepreneurship awareness and livelihood support; and collaboration with training institutions, employers, and community partners.

Social Impact Philosophy

We believe social welfare should be guided by compassion, dignity, accountability, and a genuine understanding of community needs. Our approach emphasizes respect for individual dignity; responsible use of resources; collaboration with qualified institutions and professionals; clear programme objectives and documentation; evaluation of programme outcomes; and inclusive access subject to programme criteria.

Partnership Invitation

We welcome opportunities to explore collaboration with eligible organizations, healthcare providers, educational institutions, skill-development partners, volunteers, and socially responsible businesses. Together, we can work toward initiatives that improve access to healthcare, strengthen educational opportunities, and support employment and livelihood development. When opportunities reach more people, communities grow stronger.

Registration & CSR Note

Aarya Foundation’s legal status, registration details, eligibility to receive donations, and any CSR-related eligibility or registration must be described in accordance with its actual documents. Applicable requirements under the Companies Act, 2013, including CSR eligibility and registration requirements, should be verified before the Foundation is presented as an eligible implementing agency for CSR projects. Nonprofit status or association with ALM Group does not, by itself, establish eligibility for every CSR funding arrangement.

5. Responsible Business

Headline

Growth with Responsibility

Intro

At ALM Group, we believe that long-term business success requires sound planning, responsible decision-making, and respect for the people and communities affected by our activities. Across our business interests, we aim to develop appropriate systems for compliance, operational accountability, risk assessment, and stakeholder engagement.

Principles

Responsible Development: evaluating opportunities through structured planning and consideration of commercial, technical, legal, and operational factors. Regulatory Compliance: recognizing applicable corporate, aviation, environmental, land-use, safety, employment, and other requirements. Stakeholder Relationships: building professional relationships with investors, customers, employees, suppliers, institutions, government authorities, and other stakeholders. Environmental Considerations: considering resource efficiency, environmental obligations, and sustainable practices where relevant. Social Responsibility: supporting healthcare, education, employment, and community welfare through Aarya Foundation and other appropriate initiatives.

6. Investor & Business Partnerships

Headline

Partner With ALM Group — Let’s Build Opportunities Together
